

ACUPs and Chemical User Courses - What's the Difference?

Updated: May 2008

AG1284

ISSN 1329-8062

Alan Roberts, Bendigo

Introduction

People sometimes get confused about the relationship between an Agricultural Chemical User Permit (ACUP) and chemical user training courses. This Agriculture Note explains the differences between the ACUP and chemical user training courses, and what each is used for.

ACUPs and 'restricted use' chemicals

An ACUP is a permit issued by the Department of Primary Industries (DPI) under the Agricultural and Veterinary Chemicals (Control of Use) Act that authorises the holder to use 'restricted use' chemicals in Victoria. 'Restricted use' chemicals are Schedule 7 Poisons (DANGEROUS POISONS), formulations of atrazine and metham sodium, and the ester formulations of 2,4-D, 2,4-DB, MCPA and triclopyr.

An ACUP is also required to use agricultural chemical products that contain 1080 (sodium fluoroacetate), gaseous methyl bromide, chloropicrin or phosphine for fumigation, or pindone concentrate for the preparation of poison baits.

To use these chemicals the user must either hold an ACUP or be working under the direct and immediate supervision of an ACUP holder (i.e. within sight and sound).

The image below shows the current standard ACUP that authorises the use of the 'restricted use' chemicals listed above. There are a number of different colour-coded ACUPs for each of the different 'restricted use' chemical combinations.

While the current ACUP is a wallet sized plastic card, there are still many ACUP holders who have the older style, A5 sized pink paper ACUP. Paper ACUPs remain valid and there is no need for them to be replaced prior to their expiry.

ACUPs and 'restricted supply' chemicals

An ACUP is also required to purchase 'restricted supply' products. At the moment, most commonly used 'restricted supply' products in Victoria are endosulfan products, mevinphos (Phosdrin Insecticide®) and all 1080 pest animal bait products used for vertebrate pest control. There are approximately 20,000 Victorian chemical users who hold an ACUP that authorises supply of these chemicals.

Chemical user training

In Victoria, the ChemCert Agvet Chemical User Training Program is the most common training course completed by chemical users. Over 60,000 people have participated in this training course since its inception in 1989.

The image below is the current ChemCert certificate issued upon successful completion of the course. For some time a few years ago wallet-sized cards were issued, but these had the same status as the course certificate.

The ChemCert course is just one of the available chemical user training courses that form the pre-requisite training in safe chemical use that once completed, allows a person to apply for an ACUP.

A chemical user training course certificate or card does not authorise the supply of 'restricted supply' chemicals, or the use of 'restricted use' chemicals – it is simply the training pre-requisite that must be completed to apply for an ACUP.

Refresher training

Once granted, an ACUP is valid for 10 years. To re-apply for an ACUP upon expiry, permit holders must send a completed application form, a copy of their course certificate, and the renewal fee to the ACUP Registrar, whose details are provided on the ACUP application form.

While DPI does not require the mandatory completion of refresher training in order to renew an ACUP, DPI does encourage chemical users to keep up-to-date with changes in technology, current practices and regulations.

In summary

A chemical user training course is purely the training pre-requisite required for DPI to issue an ACUP, whereas an ACUP authorises the supply of 'restricted supply' chemicals, and the use of 'restricted use' chemicals in Victoria.

Further information

For further information about the ACUP system contact:

- DPI Customer Service Centre: Phone 136 186
- DPI Chemical Standards website: www.dpi.vic.gov.au/chemicalstandards
- DPI Chemical Standards Officers

North West

Alan Roberts (03) 5430 4416

Dave Rumbold (03) 5430 4806

North East

Steven Field (03) 5824 5532

South West & Port Phillip West

Neil Harrison (03) 5336 6616

Jo Robinson (03) 5355 0522

Gippsland & Port Phillip East

David Stewart (03) 9785 0173

Michael Laity (03) 9785 0191

The previous version of this information note was published in July 2007.

The advice provided in this publication is intended as a source of information only. Always read the label before using any of the products mentioned. The State of Victoria and its employees do not guarantee that the publication is without flaw of any kind or is wholly appropriate for your particular purposes and therefore disclaims all liability for any error, loss or other consequence which may arise from you relying on any information in this publication.